Pediatric Neurologist joins Coastal Children's Services

WILMINGTON –

We are pleased to announce that Dr. Sasidharan Taravath will be joining Coastal Children's Services. This will expand the pediatric subspecialty services that Coastal Children's Services provides to the families of southeastern NC.

As the region's only full-time pediatric neurologist, Dr. Taravath will begin seeing patients at New Hanover Regional Medical Center on March 17th.

Originally from India, Dr. Taravath received his medical degree and completed his pediatric residency from the Armed Forces Medical College in India. He completed his clinical fellowship in Pediatric Neurology and Neurology Residency at the University of Chicago. Dr. Taravath is board certified in Pediatrics as well as Neurology, with special qualification in child neurology. Dr. Taravath has also been involved in Sleep Disorders studies for children for more than 20 years, and is board certified in Sleep Medicine. Prior to joining Coastal Children's Services Dr. Taravath was a Clinical Associate Professor in the Department of Pediatrics at West Virginia University College of Medicine.

Dr. Taravath also has expertise in treatment of spasticity and movement disorders utilizing botulinum toxin administration.

He will be seeing patients at the NHRMC Nunnelee Pediatric Specialty Clinic at the Betty H. Cameron Women's & Children's Hospital. For appointments or for more information, call 910.667.6819.
